INCREASING LGBTI INCLUSION TOGETHER ACROSS AUSTRALIA

LGBTI INCLUSION IN TASMANIA

Pride in Diversity is the national peak body focused on LGBTI workplace inclusion. We engage with over 300 organisations, employing over 2,500,000 employees in and across all states. Many of our members have requested we take the conversation about LGBTI workplace diversity and inclusion to Tasmania which we are thrilled to be able to do. These programs are open to the wider community of employers and employees in Hobart, including state and local governments, small businesses and community employers.

The objective is to assist organisations and their teams on their journey of LGBTI awareness and inclusion within the workplaces of Tasmania, and share challenges, opportunities and better practices from across Australia and abroad. Proudly partnering with Working It Out, and kindly hosted by Pride in Diversity member, Australian Tax Office (ATO) we will chair a series of events on Wednesday 5 June. Events include discussions on critical elements of LGBTI inclusion gleaned from the Australian Workplace Equality Index benchmark and other research. Join us in addressing the question about what next for organisations, leaders, HR professionals and employee networks post achieving marriage equality.
